

ICOF Global University

Policy Statement

This document outlines the official policies, responsibilities, and conditions of study that apply to all students of ICOF Global University (ICOFGU). By submitting this application, the student and, where applicable, the parent or sponsor, agree to abide by the following:

1. Access and Inclusion

ICOF Global University is committed to providing equal opportunities in higher education. Admission to any of the University's programs is based strictly on academic merit, eligibility, and fulfillment of entry requirements. The University operates a non-discrimination policy, meaning that no applicant or student shall be denied admission or academic opportunity on the basis of race, ethnicity, gender, religion, disability, nationality, or socioeconomic background. We affirm diversity and inclusivity as a cornerstone of academic excellence and human dignity.

2. Quality of Education

The University guarantees that every academic program is designed to provide rigorous intellectual formation and practical skills essential for professional success. Our curricula are subject to periodic review to ensure that they meet international standards, respond to industry changes, and address societal needs. Students are expected to commit themselves to diligent study, active participation in class discussions, completion of assignments, and engagement with practical or field activities where applicable. Faculty members, in turn, are obligated to provide competent instruction, mentorship, and academic guidance.

3. Academic and Community Conduct

The University community is built on the values of respect, honesty, and integrity. Students are required to maintain exemplary behavior in all academic and social engagements.

3.1 Conduct in Class

Students must attend classes regularly and punctually. Disruptions, such as talking during lectures, using phones without permission, or showing disrespect to faculty or peers, are prohibited. Students are required to participate constructively in discussions and group activities, fostering an environment of mutual learning and collaboration.

3.2 Student–Professor Relations

The relationship between students and professors must remain professional and respectful at all times. Students are expected to address faculty members with courtesy, follow academic instructions, and observe institutional protocols when raising concerns. Any form of harassment, intimidation, or inappropriate conduct towards staff will not be tolerated and will result in disciplinary measures.

3.3 Cheating, Plagiarism, and Academic Dishonesty

The University maintains a zero-tolerance policy against cheating, plagiarism, and all forms of academic dishonesty. Cheating during examinations, such as copying, using unauthorized materials, impersonation, or collaborating with others without permission, is strictly forbidden. Plagiarism—defined as presenting someone else’s work, ideas, or intellectual property without proper acknowledgment—is a serious offense. Submission of falsified academic records, research data, or documents will also be considered fraud. Sanctions for such offenses range from cancellation of grades and suspension to permanent dismissal, depending on the gravity of the violation.

3.4 Dismissal and Disciplinary Measures

The University reserves the right to dismiss any student who fails to uphold academic integrity, exhibits repeated misconduct, engages in violence, harassment, substance abuse, or criminal activity, or consistently disregards University policies. Dismissal decisions are taken by the University Senate or its delegated committees and are binding. A dismissed student forfeits all rights to refunds, transcripts, or re-admission unless otherwise stated in writing by the University.

4. Accountability and Responsibility

Students bear personal responsibility for their academic success. This includes attending classes, submitting assignments on time, adhering to deadlines, and preparing adequately for examinations. Students are also responsible for familiarizing themselves with University notices, bulletins, and academic calendars. In return, the University pledges to provide the necessary infrastructure, qualified instructors, and academic resources to ensure a supportive and conducive learning environment.

5. Privacy and Confidentiality

The University collects and maintains personal and academic information for administrative and academic purposes only. Such information will be kept confidential and will not be shared with unauthorized persons. Students are responsible for keeping their contact details updated with the University. The University shall not be held accountable for missed communications resulting from outdated or incorrect student information.

6. Health Disclaimer

Every student is responsible for maintaining their personal health and wellbeing throughout the duration of their studies. The University may levy Student Health Fees or impose additional charges where emergency medical services are required, particularly for resident students. ICOFGU does not assume liability for pre-existing medical conditions, and students are strongly advised to obtain private health insurance. Any health conditions requiring accommodations must be disclosed to the University at the time of registration so that appropriate measures can be arranged. Participation in field activities, sports, or off-campus events is undertaken at the student's own risk unless expressly covered by University-provided insurance.

7. Student Fees and Financial Policy

The financial policy of the University is binding on all students and sponsors.

7.1 Amendments

The University reserves the right to amend fees at any time, particularly in response to economic changes. Any such amendments will be communicated promptly to students, but absence of prior notice shall not exempt students from compliance.

7.2 Payment of Fees

All fees must be paid in full or in accordance with approved installment schedules by the deadlines announced through official bulletins or the student portal. Late registration shall attract a penalty of 10,000 FCFA, and ignorance of deadlines shall not excuse penalties. Payments may be made in cash, check, or direct deposit. Any check returned by the bank will require immediate repayment in cash or direct deposit plus a 20% penalty.

7.3 Outstanding Balances

Students with outstanding balances from previous terms will not be permitted to register for new courses. Graduating students with unpaid fees will not be issued transcripts, diplomas, or degrees until their accounts are cleared.

7.4 Refunds and Withdrawals

Refunds will be processed electronically only and limited to one refund request per month. The refund schedule is as follows:

- 100% refund if withdrawal occurs within seven (7) days of enrollment.
- 75% refund within fourteen (14) days of enrollment.
- 50% refund within thirty (30) days of enrollment.
- 25% refund within ninety (90) days of enrollment.

- No refunds will be granted after ninety (90) days of enrollment.

Failure to complete the official Withdrawal Form will result in the student being liable for the full semester's tuition, regardless of attendance.

7.5 Sponsorships

Students under sponsorship must submit a Sponsorship Verification Form. Sponsors are legally bound to honor all financial commitments made on behalf of their students. Any delays in the clearance of sponsor payments beyond University deadlines shall attract additional penalties.

7.6 Scholarships and Bursaries

Subject to availability of funds, scholarships and bursaries may be awarded on the basis of academic excellence, financial need, and character. Work-study scholarships may also be offered to second-year students. Students must complete all required applications within stated deadlines to be considered.

8. Withdrawal from the University

Any student intending to withdraw must complete and submit an official Withdrawal Form through the appropriate faculty. Students who withdraw after three months of enrollment shall remain liable for their entire semester's tuition. Students who fail to follow the official withdrawal procedure shall remain financially responsible for their fees and will not be eligible for refunds or future readmission unless specifically authorized.
